RAH FLAGS WILL H. HAYS

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL CHAIR-MAN'S POLICY REGARDING LEAGUE OF NATIONS IS IN ACCORD WITH BELIEFS
IDAHO SENATOR.

PARTY RUMORS

Washington, June 25.—Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, has never met with a denunciation from Democratic sources as he received from Senator of Idaho, a member of his party and one who declares that he has always been a Republican.

He is not satisfied with the Hays relative to the League of Nations. He has demanded constantly that Hays put himself and his party on either in support of or in opposition to the League of Nations, Hays has taken no action.

Hays says that one will have to "hunt his tracks." He says that it is difficult to find Hays' tracks in other words, that it is difficult to understand what position he is willing to take. There could be more definite description of a man who wants to be for and against the League, a straddler, and it is to be noted that Borah devotes himself to this is an American question, Borah pointed out. "It is an American question, but there are no sides to the question; on which side he stands? There are two sides to the proposition. Both sides are right; one side must be for the interest of our people, the other must be to their detriment. All Mr. Hays to do, as he has previously said, is to speak for the party, is to which side lies the interest of the welfare of the American people. I object to the repudiated of being neutral, even in this."

He once again has uttered the words that unless Hays and the Republican party take some stand he will not support them in the organization of a third party. There is sentiment on the Republican side of the river for another trial at a third party. There is open denunciation of present Republican leadership.

His party takes some stand, Hays says he will trample upon the words of his party. Hays expects Hays to be driven by the Borah statement. He says it is a very difficult task before him. In his speech at St. Paul he denounced the League of Nations and insisted that the people of America would never permit it to be adopted. The sentiment for the League then rushed in upon him and under cover by straddling. Even his party in Congress has a definite stand Hays has taken to Washington and by some caused the straddle to become again.

Regardless of what the people of America think of his candidacy for the Republican chair, it is a fact that he has lost popularity in his party. His long experience in politics, especially men in official life, can be fooled by the man who is never against, the man who never takes a position and never has courage to openly assert his views. He is no sympathy and no admirer of a trimmer and Hays is recorded now as a political trimmer. He fooled the people for a time and has ceased to fool the politi-

There is a considerable element in the Republican party which is disaffected and disgusted with the Hays party. There has been a time in the past during consideration of the League of Nations when Hays have been ignored had he not for his assistance former leaders of the party and political strategists. He is faced by a very definite position in his party and he has attempted to bridge it over. It is just now how long he can maintain this position. It is a fact that if he does not do over, without doubt the majority of the party leadership will be for giving that fine salary is said to be getting to some other leader.

Senator Harry S. New has the courage to take a stand on the League of Nations question. He is frankly and openly opposed to it. He has been open in his support of the Knox resolution which would have struck at the President from behind and he has continued his support even after Hays called upon Elihu Root to write another letter to get the party out from under the burden of the resolution.
If Knox's plan cannot be adopted by the Senate, New will support any plan founded on the scheme outlined by Root. There is considerable evidence that Hays and New cannot agree upon policies of leadership.

Senator James E. Watson of Indiana has just delivered a speech in New Jersey in which he denounced the League of Nations covenant. Watson has made no speeches in the Senate on the subject, but his position on the League has been made plain through his support of the Republican resolutions which would have destroyed the League.

SAVINGS FIRST.

Uncle Sam is proposing a new slogan for all his people. It is "Savings First." Just now the Indiana War Savings Committee is backing up Uncle Sam's slogan with an "I Am Planning to Save" movement. It asks Hoosiers to sign the cards which they will receive in the mail, and send these postcards back to the postoffice. The postcard says "I am planning to save. It strikes me that 4.62 percent, which is the War Savings Stamp interest rate, makes a good investment; that I ought to own a few shares in the United States of America; that I ought to ward off the rainy day, or at least be prepared for it if it comes. So I plan to save." Upon signing the post card and returning it to the postoffice the signer will be supplied regularly with Thrift Stamps in any amount he desires.

That is all there is to Thrift Week. It is not a drive and there is no coercion about it. The government wants every citizen to cultivate the habit of saving first and spending afterwards. It advises and strongly urges the wisdom of establishing a systematic plan under which every citizen may decide at the first of the week or the first of a month just how much he can save, and then setting aside that amount definitely as savings. Too many people try to save at the end of the week or at the end of a month. These people usually find there is little or nothing left to save.

The government's campaign is based upon the theory that national prosperity can be established only on a foundation of personal thrift. Hence the slogan "Savings First." It is to be hoped that this campaign will result in a large number of Indiana people adopting thrift habits.

The Indiana War Savings Committee is asking only a simple and reasonable thing when it asks you to sign the card "I Am Planning to Save." You should do it for your own benefit.

S. C. C.'S GIVE SHOWER FOR MRS. WILL McBRIDE

The S. C. C. Club entertained Tuesday evening in honor of Mrs. Will McBride, formerly Miss Ella Bowman, at the beautiful country home of Miss Edith Swift, an intimate friend of the bride. The house was beautifully decorated with ferns and cut flowers, the predominating colors being club colors of pink and green. Those in the receiving line were Mrs. James Swift, mother of the hostess; Mrs. Harry Wells and Miss Blanche Harcourt. The bride wore a gorgeous frock of white georgette with pink over drape.

Upon entering the living room Miss May Allen played several piano selections while little Dorothy Wells assisted the guest of honor to a large chair in the south end of the music room which had been especially arranged for the occasion. After a short musical program Miss Susie Talbott gave a short original story and poem on the club life of Mrs. McBride. She was then presented with a large basket in which the gifts had been placed, most of which were useful kitchen articles. A guessing contest entitled "The Courtship and Marriage of Will an Ella" was enjoyed, the answers to each question being the name of a common flower. Mrs. George Long proved her ability to those present by guessing the largest number of correct answers. Besides the members of the S. C. C. Club, intimate friends of the bride were present, making about forty in number. Delightful refreshments of brick ice cream and angel food cake were served. Those who assisted with the serving were Mrs. Harry Wells, Miss Nina Cook and Helen Browning. Miss Ethel Daniel and Miss Lelia Talbott presided at the punch bowl. At a late hour the guests departed, wishing the bride many years of happy wedded life.

ULTIMATUM SUGGESTED TO HASTEN SIGNATURE

Paris, June 25.—If the heads of the allied powers in Paris do not hear from Weimar soon regarding the German delegation for the signing of the peace treaty, an ultimatum will be sent to the German government, according to the Paris office of Reuters, Limited. The ultimatum will demand the appointment of plenipotentiaries within a certain number of hours.

Paris, June 25.—Confusion and some uneasiness exist in regard to the peace situation. Whether the treaty will be signed Friday or Saturday apparently depends entirely on the arrival of the new German plenipotentiaries, concerning whom advices are conflicting. It is this uncertainty that has caused a slight feeling of apprehension in conference circles.

Mrs. Mary C. Hester has purchased the Henry Ostrum property at the corner of Anderson and Arlington streets. The consideration in the deal was $3,250. The Central Trust Company was agent in the transaction.

GOODRICH SETS OUT PROGRAM FOR ASSEMBLY

SESSION LIMITED TO SIX DAYS AND WILL CONSIDER ONLY AMENDMENT AND FEW MATTERS OF EMERGENCY CHARACTER—EXECUTIVE DECIDES TO ACT ON LEARNING THAT ENOUGH STATES ARE PLEDGED TO APPROVAL.

LAST WEEK IN AUGUST

Harrisburg, Pa., June 25.—The Pennsylvania legislature ratified the federal suffrage amendment today, the House giving its approval by a vote of 153 to 44. The Senate ratified the amendment last week, 32 to 6. Pennsylvania is the seventh state to ratify the amendment, the others being Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Kansas and New York.

Governor Goodrich announced last evening that he would issue a call for a special session of the General Assembly for either the last week of August or the first week of September primarily for the purpose of ratifying the woman suffrage amendment to the federal constitution.

The Governor announced his decision immediately after the receipt of a telegram from Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, assuring Indiana that the amendment to the constitution of the United States would be ratified before the next presidential election provided all the states that have agreed to call special sessions of the legislatures did so.

As a result of the effort to learn the disposition of other states relative to a special session Governor Goodrich announced that he received replies from thirty-five Governors and that twenty-five of them agreed to call special sessions if necessary to ratify the amendment.

Program Is Limited.

In announcing the Indiana special session the Governor said that the session would be limited to consideration of the suffrage amendment and "to three or four other emergency matters." He said that he did not care to discuss the nature of the other matters that he regarded as absolutely necessary to come before the session. He declared, however, that the length of the session would be limited to one week.

Mrs. F. J. Yeager and daughter, Miss Beulah, drove to Mooresville, Tuesday, where they spent the day with relatives.

A RECEPTION FOR VISITORS

A LAWN PARTY TONIGHT

One of the most brilliant events of the national Alpha O. convention being held here was a reception given Tuesday evening in Rector Hall by the local chapter of Alpha O. for their visitors and guests. More than seven hundred attended the affair. The guests began to arrive at 8:30 o'clock, the appointed time, and were introduced to the grand president, Mrs. Isabelle Henderson Steward, of California, by Margaret Emily McGaughey, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. M. McGaughey. Those on the receiving committee were Miss Wilhelmina Hedde, of the local chapter; Mrs. H. B. Gough, of the DePauw faculty; Mrs. Stella George Stern Perry, founder of the Alpha O. sorority, of Rhode Island; Miss Helen Henry, of New York, grand registrar and secretary; Mrs. Lillian MacCausland Norman, Providence, Rhode Island, grand treasurer; Miss Viola Gray, of Lincoln, Neb., chairman of membership committee; Mrs. Lucretia Gordon Bickley, of Knoxville, Tenn., district superintendent of the South, and Mrs. James L. Randel of this city, patron of the local chapter.

The reception was one of interest and enjoyment throughout. The lower parlors of Rector Hall were beautifully decorated with red roses, the Alpha O. flower. Two musicians of Indianapolis rendered violin and harp selections during the evening. Six little girls of the Greencastle public schools served punch and wafers during the close of the evening. Those who served were Miss May Creveling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Creveling; Miss Eunice Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Taylor; Miss Blanche Bicknell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bicknell; Miss Virginia Grose, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Grose; Miss Crystal Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Cooper, and Miss Annabelle McWethy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. McWethy.

This afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock the Alpha O. sorority will be entertained at the Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Kelley home on East Anderson street with a garden party. This evening at 6 o'clock a picture of those attending the convention will be taken in front of the Bowman gymnasium.

Ritual and convention services will be held in the gymnasium parlors this evening. The feature of the convention for Thursday will be "stunt night" held in the new high school building at 8 o'clock. Each chapter will be represented with stunts, and prizes will be given for the best song of the evening. Friday evening a banquet at Rector Hall at 8 o'clock will close the convention.

This afternoon the different Alpha O. chapters have on display in the parlor rooms in the Bowman gymnasium their work for the past year. Red Cross achievements, picture albums and books and poetry written by the members will be on display to which the public is cordially invited.

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this successful remedy is made impresses the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness that attends the making of this great medicine for woman's ills.
 Over 350,000 pounds of various herbs are used annually and all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal properties are at their best.
 The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.
 Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized as a final precaution in cleanliness.
 The medicine is pasteurized and sealed
 in sterile bottles.
 It is the wonderful combination of herbs and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine successful in the treatment of woman's ills.

Once-a-Week Polish
Keeps Teeth Stainless

Why do so many use pumice stone, charcoal, or other harsh, dangerous substance to remove the unsightly brown or blackish tinge from the teeth? Simply because they have never found the way to keep their teeth that would do the work. The reason is that they are covered with a film, or "plaque," which the usual brushing cannot penetrate or dissolve.
 The problem of removing these obstinate films has finally been solved by a new dental polish, who has originated
 this "Once-a-Week Tooth Polish."
 This polish not only removes all dirt and stains easily and quickly, but does the least injury to enamel or the delicate tissue of the mouth. It is the only dental polish obtainable at any drug store, and is not intended as a substitute for dentifrices, but to be used in addition to them—once a week, as the dentist directs. It should be used by both men and women, as well as a preventive of stains, tartar, decay, a germi-cide.

HAVING HOT TIMES IN MEXICO SAYS GEORGE BROWNING

Mrs. Betty Browning, 1719 East
 Washington street, received the following letter from her son, George, who is with the U. S. troops on the Mexican border.

Fort Bliss, Texas
 June 18, 1919

Dear Mother:

I guess you think I am never going to write, but I have been so busy I could not write. I guess you will get scared and think I was hurt in Mexico, but I didn't get a scratch.

I have had but one night's sleep in the last four. We were out two nights in a row and I was on guard last night. But we sure got paid for staying out. We went out on the river Saturday night and lay out there all night. We came in Sunday about noon and then went out Sunday night at 6 o'clock and crossed the river at 11. We were under fire from about 11 until 5 a. m. Monday. Only a few were shot. We only lost one man out of the seventh and he was killed instantly.

Villa beat it early Monday morning and we followed him about three hours later and came upon his band encamped about eight miles from Juarez. Of course Villa himself was not within fifteen miles of his troops.
 When we came upon them they were eating breakfast, something we did not have, nor any dinner Monday. We surprised them and didn't even give them time to saddle their horses, but opened fire on them with machine guns and rifles. My, you should have seen the old seventh! No wonder it has the name of being the fighting regiment. Villa never faced a stronger fire than he did in about fifteen minutes there.

Of course they would not try to stand and face the fire. They retreated for the hills, then the artillery began to fire shrapnel into their lines and killed piles of Mexicans. To top it off, the seventh made a pistol charge on the Mexicans and killed quite a few more and captured several horses. But the regiment hit a marsh and our horses could not get across it as easy as the Mexicans because their horses were small and did not sink like ours. They got pretty well out of range by the time we were across the marsh, but we let them have it with the rifles. We would have continued to chase them had not orders come saying we would have to be out of Mexico at 12 o'clock, and it was then three hours and a half overtime. We came into the States at 5:50 p. m. that afternoon. The people of El Paso give us no credit, but criticize us and say that we made a bunch of mistakes by going into Mexico after Villa. After us protecting their lives, they have no thanks for us. I suppose you have been reading the papers and saw all of this.
 They print that we won't go over again, but I think we will come to in the near future, and I hope we do.
 Please excuse this writing, because I am in a hurry and I am going on post now, so I will have to close for this time. Will write more the next time.
 With much love to all.

GEORGE BROWNING.

P. S.—I have been under fire and overseas.

A horse owned by Vern Sherley which was hitched on the west side of away about 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. As the result Mr. Sherley now has a badly damaged buggy. The buggy first hit the tail lamp of the John Cook automobile which was parked in front of the Cook hardware store. The glass of the lamp was smashed and in passing the auto the rim of the left hind wheel of the buggy was torn off. The horse then ran to the corner of Franklin street and College avenue, where in turning the buggy was almost completely wrecked. The horse then stopped and was led to the Vestal livery stable by men who had followed the runaway.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Prevo went to

Just about the time one of the farmers who was in Greencastle last Saturday taking in the sights of this city stated that he had never seen the city with less excitement, a horse drawing an empty buggy ran through the square at a 2:40 rate and headed for DePauw University down South Vine street. The farmer immediately followed the runaway horse and forgot all about there being no excitement in town. The horse, which belongs to Robert Clinton of Limesdale, finding he was too late to matriculate in DePauw for the summer school, turned west on Seminary and then south on Indiana, where he gathered speed and ran to the home of Harry Moore and stopped. The reason why he stopped is not as yet clear, but some say that the horse wished to secure a marriage license, but finding Putnam county's clerk not at home right-about faced and walked slowly down town to the court house. Nevertheless, a man passing by took hold of the horse's bridle and led him for fear something more exciting might happen.

As far as anyone can ascertain at the present time, Greencastle is going to have a very safe and sane 4th of July—that is, if something doesn't happen between June 21 and July 4. It looks like the citizens of this city will have to rely upon the fireworks and balloon ascension which will be pulled off at Stilesville if they wish any excitement of this kind. A few weeks ago a committee of the Red Men's lodge interviewed Elmer Crawley, secretary of the Commercial Club, and asked permission to stage a 4th of July celebration. Although permission was given, so far their plans have been air-tight, and if something big is pulled off in this city on the anniversary of the day the Declaration of Independence was signed it will be a surprise to the majority of Greencastle citizens.

Senator James E. Watson, of Indiana has become very much interested in having the war department give the Senate reasons which caused the rush of American troops across the Mexican border and in pursuit of the Villa soldiers. It is the first time Senator Watson has shown any keen interest in the military policies of the government.

Some Senators apparently are critical of the army officer in command of the American forces because of his statement that the wounding of some Americans on the north side of the Rio Grande has caused him to take drastic measures and disperse the Mexican forces under Villa.

At the same time that Watson was asking for information it became known that supporters of Villa had held a secret meeting in Washington and had determined to get a special messenger to Villa by some means and to warn Villa not to consider any program of raids on American towns along the border. It is reported to the New York "Times" that the Villa supporters fear a policy of Villa raids may force further action from the American government.

No Matter How Obstinate or How Contracted—Cured.

When I say I can cure you you can depend upon it, for I know from the successful results in thousands of similar cases to yours just what I can accomplish. Grateful patients treated by me are constantly recommending others, and this is why I possess such a large practice.

Men! Women! If you do less than you should, on your farm, at your desk or in your shop, you are in some way weak. If you can't accomplish all that you expect or hope for, you are the silent sufferer from some hidden disease that affects one or more of the important nerve centers of the body. These neglected or unknown conditions are usually diseases of the Pelvic System, which reflexly act upon the organs of elimination, digestion and the nervous system, which in turn has its influence upon the brain. I have made a special study of the nervous system, and have perfected methods that will cure where ordinary methods have failed. I will give you a searching and thorough examination FREE, thus determining the exact location of your trouble.

BEAR IN MIND that I have in Indianapolis one of the most modern and thoroughly equipped offices in the state with a Specialist in charge who is ripe in years of experience, rich and mature in learning in his chosen work.  Greencastle, Ind.:

April 30, 1919.

In reply to yours of the 15th will give you as nearly accurate data as possible.

I have broken ninety acres, disked probably eighty or ninety acres, sowed with drill sixty acres and ground about four hundred bushels of oats, besides pulling stumps, dragging logs, rocks, etc.

Fall plowing, seven and one-half inches deep in clover sod, took an average of three and one-eighth gallons of kerosene per acre. Disking deep, a little less than a gallon per acre (twenty-two gallons to twenty-five acres) that is double disking. Grinding oats takes about one gallon to twelve bushels. Total motor oil used, including draining, I think, is about one gallon per day. Actual cost per acre in fuel, gas and oil is near sixty cents.

I have had no mechanical trouble whatever. Altogether I have no complaint to make so far with the Fordson.

Yours truly,
 Z. P. BURKETT.

OBITUARY.

Clyde Wayne Wright, the son of George W. Wright and Minnie M. Cox Wright, was born December 16, 1900, in Mill Creek township, Putnam county, Indiana, and departed this life Tuesday, June 17, 1919, age 18 years, 6 months and 1 day.

From early babyhood Clyde had always been a precious child to his parents. He was obedient, industrious, good natured and optimistic. At an early age he entered the common schools of Mill Creek township. Later he received his high school education at Belle Union, Broad Park and Eminence, and received his diploma from the Eminence high school in the spring of 1918.

He entered the Eminence school a stranger to almost all of us, but through his pleasing ways, industrious habits and ideas of fairness and justice he won the friendship of all who knew him.

Since his graduation Clyde has remained on the farm. He was an industrious farmer and expected to enter the university this fall to become better prepared for that vocation. While plowing Monday, June 2, he became ill. Medical aid was called, an operation was performed and everything possible was done to lengthen Clyde's time on earth with us. At first there was hope, but June 16 he became much worse, more medical aid was called and the family learned that Clyde must soon leave them. Afterward Clyde asked Doribel the doctor's report and she told him the sad truth. He received it bravely and told her he was not afraid to go. During the remaining hours of his life he talked freely with the family. He also spoke of religion and its effect upon mankind. He also said that at a revival at the Chapel church he had been converted and decided to walk as God would have him do. He had expected to unite with the Baptist brethren at the Valley church, near Belle Union. His words of advice to his young friends were: "Tell all the boys to accept Christ, unite with the church, and live a good life."

Before the end came Clyde made definite disposal of his property and made plans for his burial. He asked for quotations from the Bible and the prayers of all. Then as the death angel approached he made his departure from this world of sorrow as one who wraps the drapery of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams. He leaves to mourn his death a father, a mother, one sister, Doribel; two brothers, Oliver Dennis and Arthur Noral; a grandfather, a grandmother, uncles, aunts, cousins and a host of true friends.

ONE G. O. P. SENATOR IS OUT OF LINE

Washington, June 21.—The way of the transgressor is hard in the United States Senate. The man who defies the leadership of his party and throws his strength to the opposition is not a favored individual. Especially is this true at this time, for the Republican majority has only two votes upon which to count and the defection of one man would result in a tie where the vice president, a Democrat, would wield tremendous power.

That it requires extreme personal and moral courage to face such a situation cannot be gainsaid and when Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, openly asserted his intention to support the League of Nations in defiance of Senators Lodge, Knox, New and Watson, he practically read himself out of the good graces of his party in the Senate. And the methods taken to discipline a recalcitrant at this time are almost amusing.

The first attempt made to force McCumber into line was the threat that he would be driven from the powerful committee on foreign relations. Every Senator wants committee assignments, which are made in accordance with the seniority rule. McCumber has served twenty years in the Senate. Under any other circumstances his place on the committee would have been assured. But he refused to heed the warning and at the last moment he was permitted to remain when the committee was so organized that League opponents would have a majority regardless of his stand.

McCumber is now a marked man. The sentiment against him is displayed at every opportunity. The moment there is action of any kind in reference to the League of Nations, eyes from the Republican side are turned on McCumber. The moment he favors the League there is a deprecating smile which passes from one Republican Senator to another and McCumber is supposed to feel deeply humiliated—a black sheep.

There is another method. When Senator Knox of Pennsylvania defended his resolution in opposition to the League and the President, it was difficult to obtain a seat on the Republican side of the chamber. Everyone was at attention. Then the hour came for McCumber to speak. One by one his Republican colleagues departed. Gradually the Republican side of the Chamber was emptied of all but a few. And these few found opportunity to hold personal discussions. McCumber was being given the "silent treatment."

Can it be wondered at that McCumber struck back at his colleagues in no uncertain terms? Can it be over-looked that in the polite language of the Senate he put the League opponents in the famous Ananias class? After reviewing every argument brought against the League and devoting his attention especially to the statements that through the League there would be British domination, McCumber said it was all false and then by analyzing the League covenant showed wherein the falsehood lay.

Then he added what was considered to be a warning to his Republican colleagues when he said that humanity which had suffered during this war and hoped for something worth while to come out of it would in the future become the worst enemy of the statesman who by falsehood would endeavor to destroy this one opportunity to prevent future warfare.

"In all my twenty years of service in this body I have seen only one instrument whose terms have been so wilfully misrepresented and misinterpreted as those of this covenant," he said. "That some of it is vague I know, and that some portions of it are objectionable from particular viewpoints may be freely admitted, but that it discriminates against us, is unfair in its treatment of our country or imposes any obligations or burden on us that is not equally borne by every other nation I emphatically deny."

"If we refuse to join the rest of the world in some plan to prevent war, what will happen? As surely as the sun shall rise, every great nation will proceed to devise means for the wholesale destruction of nations. The nation which is most learned, most thorough and assiduous will take the lead in this nefarious design and manufacture gas bombs that will wipe out of existence in a single night New York, or London, or Paris, or Berlin."

And just to lend emphasis to this prediction, army officers just at the time the prophecy was being made were before a Senate committee and urging that this nation continue its preparation for future gas warfare. Regardless of what agreements are reached, gas will be used to destroy, for it is the purpose of war to destroy human beings, they asserted. This nation, they contended, must be prepared to destroy with gas to the utmost of its power. Such is the military attitude.

The League is the only alternative for this or any other nation that hopes to avoid the expense, destruction and horror of future war.

CHICKENS STOP MARCH OF ARMY WORM HORDES

Columbus, Ind., June 21.—Five thousand chickens from the poultry farm of U. R. Fishel, which is situated near Hope, have practically put an end to army worms in Bartholomew county.

The first appearance of the pest in the county was observed in a fifteen-acre meadow on the Fishel farm. Mr. Fishel ignored the prescribed methods of destroying the worms, and observing that they seemed active early in the morning he turned the chickens in every morning at daylight with the result that by night the worms had almost disappeared.

A short time after their appearance in the meadows, from which the hay was cut, the worms started to cross into a corn field, but more chickens were placed in the edge of the corn and they ate the worms as fast as they came. Thus far the fowls seem to thrive on the fare, and as they have been eating the worms four days it is thought no harm will ensue.

Mr. Fishel is of the opinion that his method has prevented serious loss in Bartholomew county.

PRESIDENT MAY VISIT INDIANA

Washington, June 20.—President Wilson may decide to appear in Indiana and present to the people his reasons for asking that the Senate ratify the peace treaty and approve the creation of a League of Nations to prevent future war.

With the decision already made that a nation-wide tour will be undertaken by the President shortly after his return to this country, the only question is where he will make speeches. It is known that within the last few days an invitation has been extended to him to appear at Indianapolis or some other city in Indiana, but as yet Indiana is not named in the tentative itinerary.

It is believed consideration was not given to opponents of the League in Indiana because their opposition has always been discounted by the fact that some of them, including Senators New and Watson, always have been regarded as actuated by violent and bitter partisanship. From the moment Republicans in the Senate decided to fight the treaty and the League covenant, every poll of Senatorial opponents of the League listed names of New and Watson. Even before an expression was obtained, the polls always contained their names. It was evident then that New and Watson could be counted upon as enemies of the League regardless of what reasons might be offered for its adoption.

There is no likelihood that New or Watson or any other Senator opposing the League from old and little motives can be moved from their opposition unless their constituents demand that they be properly represented. There is a prospect that Senators who are opposing the League from conviction that it is unwise may become its supporters. There is reason to believe also that these Senators really are endeavoring to represent their constituency and that when the people advise them to give the League support, they will do so.

The opposition to the League of Nations has taken many forms. One day it is a "colorful League" which will be controlled by the black, brown and yellow races; another day it is asserted that Great Britain will dominate the League; again it is the contention that the League will cause future wars, and now Senator Sherman of Illinois denounces it as part of a religious plot. Sherman offered no reason for his charges. He has been scored by editors of big newspapers for his statement. He has made no reply.

Seven Senators on the Republican side of the chamber are now opposed to the demand of Senator Lodge, Republican leader, and Senator Knox that the Senate shall inform the world of its hostility to President Wilson and its determination that a League of Nations shall not be created. If forced to vote, it is known these seven men have informed their leaders that they will not consider themselves bound to support the Knox resolution now before the Senate.

The speech made by Will Hays, Republican national chairman, in Fort Wayne, Ind., has created considerable comment in political circles in Washington. It is taken as a warning to the Republican Senators to remain "astraddle" of the League of Nations fence and neither to be for it nor to oppose it openly. It is taken as an order to continue the cunning methods already adopted to defeat the League, but not to get into a position where the party can be charged with complete opposition to the League.

Hays is expected to confer with the Congressional leaders in Washington. When once before the Senators declared their opposition to the League by a "round robin," Hays suddenly appeared here, conferences were held and the "round robin" was so forgotten that the question often became: "Who killed the round robin?" From then on, Republican Senators were guided by the Hays advice and though on constantly uttering opposition to the League in some subtle manner they never openly opposed it until Senator Knox took a decisive step. It is now a question whether Hays and his warning are too late to save the party from being placed on record.

PLANS TO BEGIN REMODELING ABOUT JULY 5

Alonzo Cook, manager of the opera house, stated recently that on account of the remodeling of the play house into one of the finest in this section of Indiana, the nightly picture shows will probably be discontinued about July 5. Mr. Cook has picture films booked until July 5, but may continue the shows for a few nights after that date. Although it is uncertain just how long it will take to remodel the opera house, it was estimated that the work will require over two months' time.

When work on the building is completed, the seating capacity will be over 1,200, and a stage which will be large enough to accommodate any theatrical company which would come to Greencastle. The Vermillion restaurant and former Cook Drug Company floors will be the first floor of the new play house, while of that which is the first floor now, the east half will be the new balcony. Two beautiful winding stairways on the north side and the other on the south side will lead from the first floor to the balcony. On the right and left of the first floor lobby will be women's and men's rest rooms. The Vermillion restaurant will be removed to a room newly built by Mr. Cook north of the present opera house stairway.

PEACE TREATY ACCEPTED BY THE ASSEMBLY

London, June 20.—The German national assembly at Weimar has accepted the peace treaty, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Paris.

Paris, June 20.—The Scheidemann government in Germany has fallen, it was learned here today. News of the event, reported during the morning, was confirmed later by military advices through Coblentz from Weimar and Berlin.

The downfall of the Scheidemann government was made known to the American delegation to the peace conference. It is believed to assure the signing of the peace treaty by Germany, as Philip Scheidemann, the premier, was understood to be the chief opponent to acceptance of the revised peace terms.

The early reports stated that Gustave Noske, the minister of defense, was forming a cabinet to succeed the outgoing government. Previous advices had indicated that four members of the Scheidemann cabinet were insisting on the signing of the treaty, and it is presumed here that this caused the fall of the ministry.

BENCE FARM IS SOLD TO REALTY COMPANY

Dr. G. W. Bence has sold to the Putnam Realty Company, which company is a partnership of Andrew Hirt and Fred Thomas, the Bence farm, formerly known as the DePauw farm, which has Franklin street as its south boundary. The farm consists of near ninety acres and was sold at a figure said to be near $200 an acre. The farm, according to the plans of the purchasers, will be subdivided and made into town lots.

The great shortage of residence properties and building lots in Greencastle was the cause of the Putnam Realty Company buying the farm. They expect to have the farm made into a residence addition by experts, who will lay out the farm in building lots.

One of the members of the Putnam Realty Company firm stated that already several persons had spoken for lots in the new addition.

ELMER STRATTON PERFECTS ATTACHMENT FOR A FORD

Elmer Stratton, of the Langdon book store, who has been working with machinery nearly all his life, has found a way to make his 1916 model Ford run like a Packard twin six. Mr. Stratton in speaking about his discovery stated that he has always been trying to get his engine to run in hot, dry weather as well as it does in damp, rainy weather. As a result of his experiment he has constructed a small hollow pipe from the radiator of his car to the manifold. When the car has gone a few miles naturally the water in the radiator boils and the moisture thus made is sucked through the pipe into the manifold. Thus he attains the same result as when the engine runs under damp weather conditions. Mr. Stratton states that he attained eighteen miles to a gallon of gasoline before he installed this pipe, but now he secures nearly twenty-three miles per gallon.

MANY FORMER DEPAUW GIRLS ARE ATTENDING

More than 200 members of the Alpha O. sorority, which is holding its national convention here this week heard an entertaining talk Tuesday morning in the parlors of Rector Hall by Mrs. Lillian McCausland Norman, a member of the sorority and graduate of Brown University of Rhode Island.

Mrs. Norman's subject was "War Activities." She has been the president of the Rhode Island Red Cross Society and has done work in the American colleges attempting to destroy German propaganda. Her talk was spicy throughout with personal experiences. Mrs. Norman was born and educated in Germany.

Tuesday night the local chapter held a reception for the visiting guests at 8:30 o'clock in Rector Hall. Attending the convention is Miss Edith Wherry, one of America's play writers. Miss Wherry is the author of "The Red Lantern," a play in which Nazimova, one of the leading actresses, took the important role.

Another fact which is interesting is that the Alpha O. sorority was the first of American sororities to send ambulances to France, the upkeep and cost of same being given by the Alpha O. national organization.

The former DePauw Alpha O. members who are attending the convention are as follows: Lucy Allen, Indianapolis; Gertrude Jayne, Indianapolis; Ethel Pike, Francisville; Frances Kelly, Winamac; Clara Dilts, Winamac; Laura Wallace, West Point; Allison Murphy, Ft. Wayne; Mrs. Fred Doner, Milwaukee; Mrs. Tilton Stout, Jacksonville, Ill.; Cella Bates, Winchester; Margaret Babcock, Rensselaer; Nina Maple, South Whitley; Bernice Mitchell, Indianapolis; Georgia Gilkey, Wingate; Marie Hedd, Logansport; Maybelle Hedde, Logansport; Edna Harvey, Markel; Mrs. Earl Lynch, Cloverdale, Ind.; Florence Foster, Cloverdale, Ind.; Pearl Maze, Cloverdale, Ind.; Cora Frazier, Muskogee, Okla.; Flora Frazier, Muskogee, Okla.; Mrs. Grover McDonald, New York City; Roxie Stafford, Albany, Ind.; Mrs. Walter Palmer, Indianapolis; Ann White, Indianapolis; Mrs. Leslie Greely, Yorktown; Mrs. Ervin Hostetter, Indianapolis; Mrs. Billie Wrightson, Baltimore; Mrs. O. Hodgson, of St. Paul, for 2,000 loaves of bread to be shipped to the city and 1,000 a day thereafter until the city can arrange to provide essentials for itself.

Mayor Hodgson and members of the St. Paul association, through representatives here, are preparing an appeal to Minnesota to raise half a million dollars for reconstruction work.

Two additional companies of militia were due to arrive today to assist the small detachment that has been working night and day searching the ruins and guarding property.

The latest estimate of the dead is sixty. Forty-four bodies have been recovered.

FRIDAY TO SEE

TREATY SIGNED

Versailles, June 24.—Hermann Mueller, German foreign minister, has been appointed president of the German peace delegation, it was officially announced this afternoon. It was said he probably would sign the treaty alone, but would be accompanied to Versailles by a delegation of twenty.

Paris, June 24.—The peace treaty, accepted unconditionally by Germany late Monday, probably will be signed Thursday or Friday, although the date remains uncertain. Premier Clemenceau, president of the peace conference, went to Versailles today to see that final arrangements for the ceremony are progressing satisfactorily. Details of the signing were considered by the supreme council yesterday.

The peace conference does not know who will represent Germany at the signing. Dr. Haniel von Haimhausen, who has been conducting the negotiations since the return to Germany of Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, is reported to have telegraphed his resignation to Weimar rather than sign the treaty. There have been rumors that Mathias Erzberger alone might come from Weimar to sign on behalf of the government of the German republic. In other quarters it is said that while Dr. von Haimhausen prefers not to sign, he will do so if his government insists.

Unconfirmed reports reaching the American delegation that the Bauer ministry has fallen are not believed to be founded in fact.

The maximum temperature for Monday was 70 degrees as reported by Weather Man Joe P. Allen, Jr. The thermometer showed 70 degrees for the temperature at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning. The people have been enjoying the cool weather and wish that it might continue.

HOW TO DISTINGUISH THE HARMFUL BARBERRY

Some property owners of this city have asked how to differentiate between the harmful common and purple leaved barberry and the Japanese variety, which is harmless.

The common variety is a tall, erect shrub having leaves which are sharply toothed, while the Japanese form is a low, spreading bush having small, smooth leaves. The common form has the spines in a three-pointed arrangement while those of the Japanese are single. The berries of both are red, those of the Japanese form being in two's or placed singly as gooseberries, while those of the common variety are in clusters, as currants.

In 1916 it was estimated that 200,000,000 bushels of wheat were lost due to the black stem rust. The only way of eliminating rust from the wheat fields of the country is by the complete eradication of the barberry.

The entire state of Indiana has been covered once by field representatives of the U. S. department of plant industry, and an aggregate of almost 4,000 plantings have been discovered. Of these about 96 per cent have been removed by patriotic citizens who want to help in any way possible to husband the resources of the country.

THE HERALD-DEMOCRAT

COLOR LINE IS DRAWN IN U. S. SENATE

Washington, June 24.—The color line has been drawn emphatically in the United States Senate and a storm which threatened for several weeks has at last broken. The appointment of a negro to a place of some prominence in the office of the secretary to the Senate furnished one reason, and the dictatorial manner assumed by Senator New of Indiana contributed the second.

The negro clerk was appointed at the request of Senator Spencer of Missouri. To give him a position of prominence, a white employee of the secretary's office was discharged. The white man, a Democrat from Missouri, expected to be relieved because the cry for spoils was so loud and insistent.

For a time it seemed the negro would go along peacefully, as he had practically nothing but Republicans around him. Then the storm broke. Senators were given to understand that the white men in the office resented the fact that a negro had been thrust into their midst as their associate. Negroes had positions about the Senate in other administrations, both Democratic and Republican, but under no administration had there been created a situation where white men were forced to surrender positions to a negro.

The storm grew until finally the Republican employees were admonished by Senators to remain silent or their positions would not be as secure as the negro's. They did not remain silent and eventually the negro was transferred to another position.

This incident might not have caused so much disturbance had not the word been passed around that Senator New had informed Senate employees they must not under any circumstances resent the employment of negroes in any position. More negroes were hurried into positions than under any other administration. New's threats and mandates carried the weight of the patronage committee with them and the clerks have not had an uprising except in one instance. New has informed them that the negroes are to be treated in every way that a white man is treated, with every consideration. The order has not rested well with the Republican employees.

Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, traveled all the way to Washington simply to inform the world that the people of the United States were greatly pleased with the work of this Congress. Hays insisted that his visit to the Capitol was not one which concerned the League of Nations.

Hardly had Hays arrived, however, when a conference of the party leaders was called and Senators Lodge, Knox and Brandagee went into secret sessions. It was admitted after these conferences that it was agreed a serious blunder had been made in the introduction and approval of the Knox resolution. It was admitted that public sentiment had been aroused so much throughout the country that at most not more than thirty-five or thirty-six Republicans insisted the people did not want them to warn the world that the President was not accredited with representing America at the peace conference.

But of the thirty-five or thirty-six Senators counted upon, two of them were from Indiana, as it was declared that Senators New and Watson had remained faithful to the last.

Replying to Hays' statement that the people were enthusiastic about the work of this Congress, Democratic leaders said the only thing that had been accomplished was the passage of appropriation bills which should have been and would have been passed at the last session had it not been for the Republican filibuster.

The Republicans did effect some "economies." They reduced the Army appropriation bill and thereby impaired proper provisions for the soldiers. The Navy appropriation bill also was reduced by cutting the allowance for aviation at a time when France and Great Britain were appropriating more than ten times that much.

And finally the great "constructive" speech of Senator Sherman of Illinois, foe of the men in organized labor and friend of the Chicago packers, was delivered. He let the world into the secret, though since that time he has been checking up on his misinformation and some day he will correct the Congressional Record on that speech that the Vatican would "control" the League of Nations. His Republican colleagues remonstrated with him and insisted he should be silent, but of course he could not.

Miss Kathryn Helm, daughter of Mrs. Martha Helm, has secured a position as clerk in the S. C. Prevo store.

CLEMENCEAU TO QUIT: THINKS TASK IS DONE

Paris, June 24.—Premier Clemenceau has expressed his intention to resign from office as soon as the treaty is promulgated, feeling that he has accomplished the task for which he assumed the premiership, says Marcel Hutin in the Echo de Paris. It is expected that parliament will ratify the treaty late in July.

SAW SEAPLANE END FLIGHT TO AZORE ISLANDS

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Higgins, who reside at 301 East Washington street, have received an interesting letter from their son, Howard Higgins, telling about witnessing the flight of the seaplane, the NC-4, while in the city of Ponta Delgada in the Azores. Mr. Higgins has been in the service for over one year and during his enlistment has seen some very remarkable and interesting sights. Mr. and Mrs. Higgins have in their possession two small pieces of canvas sent to them by their son. The canvas was a part of the binding and a portion of the wing which belonged to the NC-3, which suffered an accident just before arriving at Ponta Delgada which completely wrecked the machine. Mr. Higgins was a student of Indiana University before enlistment. The letter received by his parents reads as follows:

U. S. S. Buffalo, Ponta Delgada May 23, 1919.

Dear Parents:

Possibly the Azores have been mentioned more in the papers back home in the last week or so than they have the last few years. Maybe you have wondered a little at times whether the planes came near the Buffalo. Yes, they did; both the NC-3 and NC-4 are here now.

Last Saturday morning we began to get the first radios concerning the flight. The first message came about 10 o'clock; after that they continued to keep coming in every few minutes and were published on the bulletin board. About noon we received the radio message that one of the planes would be here about 2 o'clock, so about 1:30 I went up on topside to get a good place from which to watch the seaplane come in. There was certainly some bunch of the natives awaiting the arrival of the plane. An old coaling dock near us was loaded until it looked as though it might go down any minute; the water line near the public square was crowded with people and all along the shore people were lined several deep; the tower of an old church near the harbor was filled with spicks (natives), and the sea wall was also doing its bit in giving the natives a place from which to watch the planes—all this in spite of the fact that it was raining continually. On account of the rain I laid below until the word was passed that a radio had just come announcing that one of the planes would be here in fifteen minutes; this was about 2 o'clock. I stayed on topside until three—but no plane came. At 4 o'clock no plane had showed up yet, neither had we gotten any word on the Buffalo about the plane, but evidently the Melville had, as about that time one of our destroyers left at full speed. In spite of the rain, however, the crowd of natives had gotten no smaller; they seemed to be determined to see the plane come in; even long in the evening many of them waited. About 5 o'clock the radio came that the NC-4 had put in at Horta on account of the unfavorable weather. There was an unusually heavy fog, making it very difficult to see very far ahead. About 7 o'clock that evening they sent a radio that they would proceed to Ponta Delgada in the morning if the weather was unfavorable. However on Sunday the weather was almost as bad as it had been on Saturday, so they did not attempt to continue the flight. Then word came of the destruction of the NC-1 and of the rescue of the crew. Sunday afternoon we intercepted the radio ordering the dreadnoughts Florida and Texas and a large bunch of destroyers to search for plane NC-3 which had been lost, no word having been received from it since about 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

The weather was still bad on Monday so that NC-4 did not attempt the flight to this place on that day. No salutes, while the old battered NC-3 slowly and by "spurts" made its way to a buoy. When the noise had subsided somewhat the Melville's band flared out with "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here." In the meantime movie men had been busy recording the arrival of the first plane to make the trip from the U. S. A. to Ponta Delgada, even if they did have to make a little over 200 miles of this distance bobbing up and down on the sea.

Early Tuesday morning we intercepted the radio stating that the NC-4 would proceed to Ponta Delgada later in the morning if the weather permitted. About noon a radio message announced that they would leave in half an hour. After chow the movie men on the Melville took their places on the sea wall and the spicks again filled the old coaling dock until it looked as though it might topple over at any moment; spicks lined the beach, filled the towers of churches, inside the breakwater.

Am enclosing a few pictures of the two planes. These pictures were taken by St. Jacques (Y2c) who is our canteen yeoman. Am also enclosing a couple pieces of the cloth of the torn wings of NC-3. The piece of string is also of NC-3. It is the string used in binding the joints in the framework of the wings. Try to break it. Got these pieces last night. The NC-3 is near the beach. They don't care if you take parts of the broken wings, but they have to keep a marine guarding the plane all the time to keep the spicks from running off with the whole thing.

The quarantine on us was raised yesterday afternoon. Was on patrol last night. Am going ashore a while after chow tonight to walk around to get a little exercise. The U. S. S. filled the sea way—in fact, there were spicks everywhere. Several minutes after 1 o'clock several shots were fired ashore and even more spicks came running to the beach, and those already there stood on their toes, as though that would help their sight, and looked to the west; sailors on the Melville and a few on the Buffalo (in spite of the fact that we were coaling ship ran up the rigging. Pretty soon some one yelled "Here she comes" and coaling on the Buffalo was "fini"—the bags of coal lay just where they happened to fall and everyone ran to get a good place from which to watch the plane come in. As soon as it could be seen easily the whistles broke loose on all the ships in the harbor and the four small factories which Ponta Delgada boasts. Then the destroyers, the Buffalo and a large Italian ship, San Gennaro, cut loose with their sirens, and the Portuguese fired salutes—which made some noise when NC-4 landed just Florida (a battle ship) was in here from Tuesday evening until this morning; the Melville and a few destroyers are still here. We coaled ship Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—took us three days when we should have done it easily in a day and a half, but the spicks were so slow that we had to wait from half an hour to an hour between each lighter of coal they sent over, so we were waiting most of the time. They also seemed to think we were pretty easy, too, and thought they could slip one over on us because we were quarantined and couldn't be over on the dock with them to tally as they put the coal in the lighters. On Tuesday we noticed that there was quite a difference between their tally and ours, so Wednesday we weighed every bag of coal in most of the lighters they sent over and found that their twenty-ton lighters of coal weighed actually only about 14.6 tons. According to our tally, we received 634 tons; according to theirs we received 750—some difference!

WANT SPECIAL "SWIMMERS" CAR ON INTERURBAN

The swimming season is now on and the Big Walnut Creek swimming hole at Stop 34, on the interurban line, is a most popular spot for Greencastle people each evening.

Last Wednesday night it was estimated that there were more than fifty Greencastle people enjoying the cooling effects of the swimming pool waters.

But with the interurban schedule as it is Greencastle swimmers have great difficulties in reaching the "swimming hole." Under the present schedule swimmers must leave Greencastle at 5:52 in the afternoon, which is just a little early, and then unless they return on the car reaching here at 7:45 they cannot get home until the 9:20 car. The swimmers are going to ask the interurban to run a special swimmers' car to the creek each evening during the summer months. They desire the car to leave here at near 6:30 and return at about 8:30 o'clock.

Robert (Bob) Allen has returned from Cleveland, O., where he went to secure a job for the summer. Bob was very much disappointed with Cleveland prospects and so is back in Greencastle now. He probably will work at the cement plant.
